DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on June 16, 2009, has been entered.

Response to Amendment

2. Claims 1-5, 15, and 16, are now pending.

Response to Arguments

3. The rejection under 35 USC 112, 1st Paragraph, set forth in the prior Office action, is withdrawn in view of the amendment.

4. Applicant's arguments filed June 16, 2009, have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

A. Contrary to Applicant's assertion, there is nothing in the disclosure of the functional solution that precludes the functional solution's being water. At [0005], ink is merely given as an example in parentheses. Clearly, this does not preclude the water of the cited prior art as the water in Katsuragi is part of the printing process of Katsuragi and can be considered to be part of the manufacture of the product of Katsuragi.

B. Further, since the claims recite no structure for the suction unit, any means for generating a pressure differential between the supply of solution and the ejected solution would read on the claimed suction unit. Since the water is ejected from (i.e., forced out) of the head of Katsuragi, there exists some suction (even if only on the molecular level), which serves to draw the water through the head, thus reading on the claimed suction and suction unit.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

6. Claims 1-5, 15, and 16, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Katsuragi et al. (US 2002/0008725 A1).

A. This reference is applied for the same reasons set forth under this heading in the prior Office action and continues to read on the claims, as amended, as explained above.
